York Tribune save :

The Washingt in correspondent of the New The public work going on along the Potomac river will soon lift up and bring into most deserted. The malaria of this region has been created by the marshes, which are now nearly drained. It is believed that the Bonlevard of the National Park, constructwo months than has 20 years' experience with tion of which will foil w the dreining and racions eminent physicians and all other remediation of the flate, will be completed within the next three years. The people who are seeking to improve the Capital bave begun to move across the Potomac. Plans for improvement in this direction are numerous. A number of memorial bridges are prijected. The approaches to Washington from Virginia are hideous. One of the place for an improvement in this direction is the establishment of a national roadway beween Washington and Mount Vernon, First will come a memorial bridge, which shall be called the Washington Bridge, and then will come the roadway. It is proposed to make a broad, spiendid driveway simply for carriages. The bridge will connect the Pctomac Fiate Park with the roadway. The State of Virginia has taken great interest in this project, and has lent all possible encouragement. It has given a charter and promised to give the right of way. It has also sur-rendered a claim against the United States to the amount of $150,000 to be used toward the expense of constructing this driveway. The presentation of a claim sgainst the United States Government may not be regarded as one of much value. The claim is an honest one, however, and if it were simply to go to the Court of Claims a judg ment would be readily obtained. There will probably be less besitation upon the part of Congress to appropriate the money necessary to satisfy this claim when it is known that the money will be employed in the construction of this road. Analostan I-land, scuth of Washington, in the direction of this roadway, is in the hands of a California syndicate, which proposes to establish there a group of manufactories and in the end will make a manufacturing town of Alexaudria, regarding it as a most favorable point for distribution to the South or North. There are many in Washington who will ofject to this. The California people, who are great believers in the Capital, say that the manufacturing element is slone needed to give a substantial cheracter to the city and to justily its more rapid growth to wealth and population. There are, however, a great many who object. They say that Washington's chief charm now is that it is free from the contaminating -moke of manufactories and the disagrees-ble association connected with great commercial works. The south wind is the prevailing one at Washington. With manu-factories at Alexandria, black smoke would hover over the Capital and soon change its bright and clean appearance. A prominent
